

Exercise Feature

Photos by Master Sgt. Michael Casados

More than 100 Wolf Pack warriors responded to Beverly High 01-08, a simulated airliner crash, on Kunsan's flight line Wednesday morning. The major accident response exercise tested the ability of Kunsan Air Base personnel to respond to large-scale accidents such as a commercial airliner crashing on the base. Approximately 19 U.S. servicemembers and five Republic of Korea Air Force members played casualties of the airplane accident. Fire fighters, medical personnel, search and rescue teams, disaster control group, and the command post participated in the MARE, being evaluated by the wing inspector general. The 8th Fighter Wing plans to conduct at least one MARE per quarter.

MARE tests Kunsan's response

Defend the base, Accept follow-on forces, take the fight north